

MYTH:

Folic acid fortification causes colorectal cancer.

TRUTH:

Studies in both men and women found no link between folic acid fortification and colorectal cancer. In fact, some studies show incidence rates and deaths related to colorectal cancer declined after mandatory fortification began.